

Indelibly Marked

Virtually everything we buy – food, beverages, computers, fridges or car parts, are indelibly marked with an identity code/label - production date, product group, batch number, sell by date or similar. Recent enhancements to the law to protect consumer health and safety have created massive demand for this sophisticated equipment. These ink-jet tattoos are applied at high speeds and the message must stick! If the applicator fails, production halts. With high-demand comes growth. Executive Partners has been exclusively retained to identify and assess Product Specialists for Johannesburg, Durban and Port Elizabeth. Are you ready to meet these high demands and make a difference?

Product Specialists

Generous basic and incentives

Ref: EP630

Bring that combination of good engineering sense, client-relation-pizzazz and a track record of selling or leasing similar sophisticated electromechanical equipment, which you have gained in the last 3 – 5 years and we could be introducing you to a great future.

A formal qualification will prove advantageous, but it's really your personality, EQ and track record which are the key determinants. Experience of selling to the packaging or similar industries, where the installation of vital equipment features strongly, is the background sought. Technical problem solving is in your blood. Liveliness, business presence and professionalism serve to round off your profile.

Genevieve Michel is keen to receive your short letter of motivation and CV (quoting EP630) at info@talenting.co.za or fax 086 631 5571.

Time to make your mark!

All applications will be treated as strictly confidential. For more info, please visit www.executivetalenting.co.za.

We correspond with all our candidates.

executive partners

accessed assessed harnessed

www.executivepartners.co.za